

CHINESE WOMAN AS PAYMENT OF DEBT

Sold for $1,000 and Held as a Slave.

RESCUED BY THE POLICE

Effort Will Be Made to Locate Chinaman Who Brought Her From Frisco.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25.—Taken from a Race street house in Chinatown, a young Chinese woman told the police that she was sold in liquidation of a $1,000 debt and kept a slave for three weeks for immoral purposes.

She was locked up in city hall and will be arraigned with a view to learning the identity of the Chinaman who she says harried her body as though it was so much money. The police attach much importance to the arrest.

From San Francisco.

The case first came to the attention of the police through a woman who lives near Fifteenth street and Ridge avenue. She told the authorities that the Chinese woman told her that she came to Philadelphia three weeks ago from San Francisco. She says she was owned by a Chinaman in New York who owed $1,000 to another Chinaman in Philadelphia, and who compelled her to do everything he ordered. Since her arrival in Philadelphia she has been held in a prisoner and not allowed to go out on the street.

Watched for a Week.

The house from which the young woman was taken is at 933 Race street. For a week it has been watched, and she has been seen moving about the rooms on the second and third floors. Police Captain Campbell and Special Policeman Lee, of the vice squad, entered the house at 33 and took the Chinese woman into custody. She is the first Chinese woman ever arrested in Philadelphia as a victim of the cadet system.

A Powerful Tong.

Rev. Frederick Pool, head of the Chinese Christian Mission, was at police headquarters soon after the arrest and assured the authorities that everything possible would be done to discover and apprehend the Chinaman who brought her and brought her to Philadelphia. He is said to be a member of one of the Chinese's most powerful tong or societies.

HATCHERY AT EDENTON BREAKS SHAD RECORD

Over Twenty-five Million Brought Out This Spring Considered
Best on Coast.

EDENTON, N. C., May 25.—The United States fish hatchery for the propagation of shad at this place has broken the record on the Atlantic coast, having hatched over 25,000,000 young shad this season. George Snyder, temporary superintendent, deserves credit for the skillful manner in which he has handled the fish commissioner's business this spring.

Mr. Snyder hatched out more young shad the past week than was hatched during the whole of last season. S. G. Worth, who has been superintendent of the hatchery, has been moved to Beaufort, N. C., where he acts as superintendent of the hatchery at that place. The hatchery owned by the United States Government at this place is now running day and night and is quite an interesting place for visitors to spend Sunday. Norfolk is well represented every Sunday.

LOCATED.

"Where does it hurt, dear?" said his mother, picking him up from the floor where he had fallen. "It hurts me in the thigh of my arm," blubbered the four-year-old.

Made-to-Measure Regals Ready to Try On

"Made-to-measure" means built to fit your feet. The Regal is not made to order, but it's made to your measure just as accurately as if we took your measure first with a tape and kept you waiting three weeks for your shoes.

Quarter Sizes! The Regal is the only shoe made up in quarter sizes—and that's what makes the fitting sure—that together with the wide variety of Regal styles and the completeness of the quarter-size range. 58 new Regal models to choose from. Eight widths in every style and quarter-size variations all the way through.

Not one single model in the whole list that would be out of place—or out of sight of other Regals—in the most exclusive social circles.

$3.50 and $4.00

We want you to visit the Regal factory at Whitman, Mass. Take the 12.45 train from Boston. Special guides to show you every process. Returning, leave Whitman at 2.30.

The New World First to Issue With Its Own Type.

In the accompanying illustration is reproduced a section of the front page of the Japanese Daily New World of May 7, the first newspaper in San Francisco to resume printing in type in its own plant after the earthquake. While the big dailies were using their neighbors' establishments the publishers of the New World, whose plant had been wiped out by the fire, purchased new presses and set up shop at 574 Seventh street, Oakland. By its enterprise the Japanese paper secured a notable "beat."

The heavy black and white drawing in the illustration is a daily feature of the paper. The five large Japanese characters on the World interpreted, read: "The New World: Daily Edition." The smaller characters adjoining give the names of the editors and the addresses of the paper's various offices. Underneath is the first paragraph of the paper's leading article, written by the proprietor, and entitled, "San Francisco After the Earthquake Disaster and the Resolution of Our Fellow Countrymen in America." It reads as follows:

"The present earthquake disaster is an unprecedented catastrophe, involving not only Japanese, but tens of thousands of white men, who suffered serious injury to life and property on the streets of San Francisco—a terrible sight, which cannot be told by tongue or pen. Such a thing belongs to an irresistible power, and human means are of no avail. Therefore, it is best for our fellow-countrymen not to be discouraged, but to bury in the past that which belongs to supernatural things, and look forward to human affairs, to plan quickly for a beautiful future, and to develop new fields."

Other articles in the New World relate to the earthquake and fire. The

RATTLER ATTACKS ANGLER IN WATERS OF CREEK

STROUDSBURG, May 25.—Stewart Flager was trout fishing in the Saw creek, Pike county, and saw what seemed to be a watersnake come toward him in the water. He kicked at it, and to his surprise saw it coil up as though ready to strike. It remained in this position until it floated on a flat rock. Flager's curiosity was now thoroughly aroused, inasmuch as the reptile remained coiled, and he waded to it, and to his great surprise found it to be a rattler. He obtained a stout pole, and the fight ended in the death of the snake.

It had ten rattles and was three feet long. Mr. Flager is a Sunday school superintendent and a school director, and says he will furnish an affidavit.

ANCIENT CUSTOMS CHANGE.

The girl who used to say, "Call me early, mother, for I'm to be queen o' 'h' May!" now says, "Oh, maw, lemme sleep!" Thus does modern life alter ancient customs.—Fact Magazine.

Try to Kill Their Wives, Two Men End Own Lives

Pistol's Work Was True
When Turned Upon Himself.

NEW YORK, May 25.—Maddened by jealousy John Kitrovis shot his young wife, a pretty woman twenty-two years old, in their apartment at 623 Ninth avenue, today, and, as the police were about to grasp him, he fired a bullet into his own brain, falling dead at their feet. The woman has a fair chance to recover.

Razor the Weapon Used by Violently Insane Husband.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 25.—Weby Lawrence, a farmer near Roseville, Tioga county, became violently insane and attacked his wife with a razor, cutting her throat badly. Mrs. Lawrence fought for possession of the razor, but her husband wrested it away and cut his throat with it to ear, dying in a few minutes.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR TOLD OF EVILS OF WEALTH

Warned Against Sins of Corporate
Greed and Over Capitalization
by Rev. Williams.

Knights Templar of the District of Columbia were given a "straight from the shoulder" talk by the Rev. Richard P. Williams, pastor of Trinity Church, at the annual Ascension Day service of that fraternity held in the Trinity Episcopal Church, Third and C streets northwest, last night. Dr. Williams took for his subject "Distribution of wealth and overcapitalization of corporations."

He urged upon the Templars of the District to take it into their hands to see that a more equal distribution of wealth is provided and that the sins growing out of the evil of overcapitalization is guarded against. His talk was earnest and appeared to have made a deep impression upon his audience. The five commandments, headed by the grand commander of the District of Columbia, attended the services in a body. A special song service was provided by the church choir. Incidental solos were given by Edwin T. Miller and Frederick Sillers, of the fraternity. The main portion of the church was reserved for the Templars, while the galleries were comfortably filled with members of the congregation.

MONSTER SHAD CAUGHT, 60,000 EGGS WERE LOST

NEW CASTLE, May 25.—What is said to be the largest shad ever caught in Delaware waters was landed here by John Ponder last evening. It weighed thirteen pounds and eleven ounces. The fish was taken to Wilmington and sold for $5.

The shad was a roe. It is estimated that at least 60,000 eggs were lost when the fish was caught, and many deplore the fact that the shad did not get a chance to reach spawning waters. Several fishermen have quit for the season, and are hanging up their nets. The highest catch on three tides yesterday was twenty-seven, while some fishermen caught from eleven to twenty-two on the same tides. The prices are higher than ever before at this time of the year.

ALL NEEDED.

"They say there is a new word added to the language every day in the year." "Well, that's right and proper. It just about keeps up with the birth rate in Boston."

FEEDER OF BIG PYTHON HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

Bitten and Almost Crushed to Death
by Reptile Before Help Arrived.

CLEVELAND, May 25.—A huge python twenty feet in length created great excitement at Edwards' animal show here by attacking Sol Edwards, the father of the proprietor of the show, who was engaged in feeding the reptile. Had it not been for the presence of several attendants of the show Edwards might have been crushed to death.

Edwards, who is seventy-two years of age, and who has been around wild animals and snakes most of his life, started to feed the big snake, which is credited with being usually a good natured fellow. Edwards was about to put a rabbit which had just been killed into the open door of the den when the snake darted out after it. The reptile knocked the rabbit from Edwards' hand, fastened its fangs into his wrist and whipped its tail from the cage and wound it about the man's legs and body.

A couple of men who work about the place rushed to the rescue of Edwards. The snake was partially unwound from the man's body and then choked for fully ten minutes before it would release its hold. Two upper rows of teeth, pointing backward and one row of lower teeth clung tenaciously to the man's hand until it was nearly choked to death and then hurried back into the cage. The snake is not at all poisonous, as it kills its prey by strangulation. It was this kind of a death that Edwards would have probably met had help not been at hand. The snake has been with the show for over a year, but never got ugly before.

HARMFUL INGREDIENTS IN OIL STATE LIQUORS

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 25.—Dr. B. H. Warren, dairy and food commissioner, will ask the next Legislature to enact a law bringing all kinds of wines and liquors under the jurisdiction of his department. Dr. Warren is collecting hundreds of samples of beer, whisky, brandy and cordials from liquor dealers and druggists all over the State, and the results of the analyses of these samples will be laid before the Legislature. Of 60 samples already analyzed, 450 were adulterated. In some cases not a trace of real blackberry was found. All manner of coal tar dyes, wood alcohol, ether, salicylic acid and other adulterants were used.
